

Taiji manifesto 31.08.2014

Tomorrow, on September 1st begins, once again, the hunting of dolphins in Taiji, Japan. The season begins on 1st September and ends in late February. Six months in which the bay is stained red with the blood of innocents. Some of the dolphins who are sent to the bay, are selected to spend a life in slavery, far away from home, they will stop to sail the seas to be used as entertainment in the cement prison of each marine park in the world. The dolphins which are not selected those who reject the captivity industry as they are considered useless for their cruel and dirty dealings are brutally murdered.

The quota for this season is:

- 114 short-finned dolphins
- 450 Striped Dolphins
- 509 bottlenose dolphins
- 261 Risso's dolphins
- 400 Tropical dolphins
- 70 killer whales
- 134 White Pages dolphins

A total of 1.938 of 7 different species of whales.

Today we raise our voices for all of them by sending a message to the world: We want that the dolphins are respected, we want them to live and to live in freedom. Dolphins are highly intelligent beings, they have a very similar social structure as the humans, they create family groups which they will never have in captivity, they are of an extremely sensitive nature and self-confident and have their own culture, a culture, which has to be respected over the interests of the people.

The hunting and trade of whales has no place in the twenty-first century. For this reason, we are here to speak for them. The fight is not over today. Inform all families, friends and people you can contact that participation in the dolphins without their knowing it to fund this brutal massacre; because if no one goes to the marine parks, there is no business and with no business, there is no captivity or death. We will continue to carry on the pressure on Japanese embassies and consulates, we will continue to inform what happens, we will not give up till the greed and brutality give way to reason and compassion. For the dolphins.
